GOILLOTING REVIVED IN

CHEERS AS CONDEMNED MEN MEET THEIR DEATH.

Paris, January 11.

Extraordinary interest was manifested to-day by Parislans in the quadruple execution at Bethune in the Pas de Calais. Special editions were being cried in the streets shortly after eight o'clock this morning, and the newsvendors kept up a constant cry of fresh editions

The reason of this unusual interest is to be sought firstly in the fact that no execution has taken place in France for nearly three yearsthat is to say, until the Chamber had pronounced itself for or against the death penalty; secondly, in the quite exceptional circumstance that four murderers were paying the penalty of their crimes one after the other.

The guilloting was seen for the first time in Beibune for 64 years. An attempt to "cinematograph" the scene was fortunately abortive. It is, nevertheless, quite possible that Parisians will be treated to a faked spectacle to morrow. Should this be so it is understood that the prefect of police will interfere.

TRAFFIC IN ADMISSION CARDS.

Crowds began to gather around Bethune prison last night, and the numbers were constantly swelled by miners and country people trooping in from the outlying districts. Personal cards of admission issued to privileged persons to what may be called the inner circle around the guillotine were trafficked for sums varying from 10s. to £2. At three o'clock Deibler and his assistant began putting up "the widow"-as the French facetiously call the guillotine-in front of the gaol, and the vast crowd of men, women, and children began to shout its satisfaction in the words :-" Death to the suffians."

Close to the guillotine was M. Lecoq, a son and brother of the victims of one of the Pallets' worst crimes. " It is a satisfaction for me to see them guillotined,2 he remarked to a journal-

In other parts of the dense crowd people were singing a doggerel specially composed for the occasion.

At six o'clock the Procureur of the Republic, with the sub-Prefect and the governor of the prison, entered Abel Pallet's cell. The condemned man had passed a sleepless night, kept awake by the shouts of the mob outside the prison. He did not even then know that his fate was scaled.

"Courage, Abel Pallet. Your petition for mercy has been rejected. Courage!"

SORRY FOR WIFE AND CHILDREN.

"I will have courage," was the reply, " do not boast of my crimes; I expected to expiate them; I will be courageous. I am sorry for my wife and children."

Theo, pointing to the Prefect, he added : "I hope you will use your influence for the conditional release of my wife. She is not to blame. I'led her astray."

He then, asked, for pen, ink, and paper, and wrote in a firm hand: "I'am sorry for my wife and children. I thank my superiors and all the officials who have been kind to me."

Auguste Pallet, merely, remarked; "I expected it," and Canut Vromant cried on hearing" that his petition had been rejected: "It i Wrong; it is unjust,"

A temporary altar was set up in the corridor of the prison, and the prisoners were offered the supreme consolation of religion. The two Pallets refused-Abel' remarking to the chaplain: "Thank you for what you have given me. That will do. I have made my confession to

Detoo and Canut Vromant, however, from within their prison cells heard the celebration of Mass, and confessed, themselves to the

CARRIED IN A STATE OF COLLAPSE,

The belfry bell now struck seven. A drizzling rain was falling. A few minutes later the command rang out, "Shoulder arms," the prison gates swing back, and Deroo, already more dead than alive, was borne to the guillotine. There was a click-and then the crowd yelled: "Bravo!". Next came Canut Viomant. He offered more resistance, but a sturdy executioner promptly reduced him to helplessness.

After him came Auguste Pallet, whose appearance was greeted with yells of : "Death | daily. to him. We want to see," The wretched man's eyes were standing from his head with horror at the sight of the guillotine. Those close by heard him say to the assistants: "Go away. Leave me alone." Last came the leader who had already been asked for and been given, coffee, cigarettes, and

"That is hel. That is hel A morr! A

mort.ln

SHOUTED AT THE CROWD. Abel Pallet, in a voice that he struggled bard' to make firm, cried: "You pack of do nothings. Down with the priests ! Lead the social revolution." The horror of the moment was deepened by the wretched man's last struggle to throw off the clutch of the executioners, and it was several seconds before his body could be forced on to the plank and his head into the aperture. The quadrople execution lasted eight minules, strenuous efforts being made by the crowd to press forward to the guillotine. The troops had hard work to stand firm.

PROBABLY THE LAST PUBLIC EXECUTION. It is, indeed, quite likely that this will bothe last public execution in France. Public opinion is fast beginning to disapprove very strongly of their uscless exhibitions, and the Chamber will be shortly asked to vote that. executions take place in future within the prison walls, as in Rogland.

Robert Peel, etc. Lord Shaftesbury .- What was the imme, diate effect of your destruction of the 20,291 chests of opium?

H.E. Lin .- A rise in price! Lord Shaftesbury,-But wasn't the supply exhausted? H.E. Lin.—By no means. Before the destruction was actually completed, sales had recommenced with greater vigour than ever, Demand was beyond all precedent,

H.I.M. Tao Kuang .- I have already told you that we had not the power to prevent it. The Opaque of the present day have seen what the Canton people can do when they have the le Topic Built UP HER NERVES, RESTORED will. Japanese goods have rotted on their wharves, for none would buy. But maither the presence of H.E. Lin nor the distant thunders of Peking could make Canton forego its smoke, opium we had begun an attack on the foreigner. Our weapon was turned against our own breast by our own people,

Lord Shaftesbury - But the moral weight of Hogland was on your side !

Mr. Gladstone-It was indeed-at least some of it. It was its chief exponent in the Hot of Commons. I wrestled in spirit, I argued in debate, I pleaded, I exhorted, I'denounced. me whether it would be in accordance with party interests for you to do so, and my saying Mr. Gladstone-You did, I remember. Morley has said as much in my "Life." Of course

Mr. Gladstone-And we did it. We deftly dovetailed two charmingly conflicting thoughts; First, that Captain Elliot's line of action was politically wrong and morally indefensible; and Second, that the Government; had not placed sufficient strength at his disposal to enable him to enforce it.

Thus it comes to pass that the marvellous combination of moral inflexibility and partisan pliableness dirkly hinted at in Morley's "Life of Glade stone " is here openly exhibited by the great statesman himself. Other examples will follow in due course. Ed.)

H. I. M. Tao Kuang.-You must be careful to remember that at that time we had but one desire, one object in all our foreign relations, and that was to keep the foreign devil in his place, vir., down. Viewed through the perfect transparency of this post-terrestial existence, i is easy to see that there at least a dozen grounds on which England might, justly bave made war, most of them of greater consequence than opium ever was. Talk of the "Opium War," therefore, is a sign either of malevolent ignorance or of ignorant maleyolence, That

THE DEPRESSION IN THE SHIPPING TRADE.

In the reviews of the shipping trade during indeed one firm declares that while. "It tonnage during the past two years has conappears to be the ambition in the present tributed to readjust the position created by day to establish 'records,' it has been the the over-supply of speculative production in misfortune, not the ambition; of the ship, previous years. ping industry to establish a record of the most unsatisfactory 'year's trading that ship-builders and ship-owners have ever known," Of course that is the language of exaggeration carried to excess, and its use in a staid business resumé can only be attributed to the despondent feeling of the writer who has probably been seriously affected by the general depression. The year began inauspiciously because when the shipbuilders notified the men that a reducthe state of trade, the latter resisted the proposition and they were locked out. After five months' idleness the men accepted what. they had throughout been offered, and returned to work at the end of May. At the same time the North East Coast Engineers' men were on strike, and only accepted what they had before refused after seven months' Idleness, and returned to work at the end of September. The shipping trade has benefited by the restriction of output through these strikes, with the exception of a few orders that have been lost, but the men's societies have been greatly impoverished and the spirit the men have shown of disregard of the interests of their societies officials has caused the employers to resolve upon more resolute action in the future by deciding not to allow the temporising that has taken place in the past, of which so much advantage has been taken, but that all questions of wages shall hereafter be dealt with simultaneously.in English and Scotch yards, It is to be noted as one result of the depression that shipowners both in Great-Britain ose burial ceremony, it is the fact that we and abroad have had their attention called to the serious loss entailed financially by the wasteful competition that exists. Mr. John White writing on this aspect of the question evidently from the owners' point of view "observes: "During the year arrangements, which it is to be hoped will continue, havebeen made, between the various important | do not see that the burning of joss sticks durlines in the Atlantic trade to terminate the ling the ceremony in that part of the Cemetery rate-cutting in passenger rates. tween large. German companies trading in many different directions. The acute depression has been evidenced by the laying up of steamers in foreign ports, such as in the East, River Plate and Mediterranean, with their crews on full pay. The tonnage laid up at home and abroad is about 1,000,000 tons of steamers. About 50 Greek steamers were laid up at one time in the Piracus, which is proof of the wretched condition of the Mediterranean trade, for it is certain no ship car make a profit if our Hellenic friends cannot. It may be observed that the simple effect of the owners' action is to create a series of gigantic rings, which it is claimed have worked so much damage to British interests Singapore and Penang. The production of the past year in British yards has been about 900,000 tons of merchant steamers-only a little more than one-half the production of the previous year, and much less than onehalf the total in 1906. Of the past year's production, one-fourth was built by three yards-viz., Messrs. Harland and Wolff. Belfast, 106,528 tons; Messrs. Workman, Glark and Co. Belfast, 50,202 tons; Messrs. Swan, Hunter and Wigham Richardson, 61,580 tons. The production of the past year is the smallest for 20 years, with the exception of 1893; but it must be remembered the tonnage is steamers (as more effective than sailing ships), although co, and other well-known a good proportion represents special-vessels, such as fast passenger boats, and an increasing number of oil-carriers—a trade now employing many steamers. The tonnage for the foreign owners represents a small amount only of the past year's production, and few orders for these owners have been given during the year. Foreign owners have suffered equally, if not more acutely than British owners, in their various services; indeed, some orders for new steamers for Continental account are reported to have been cancelled, Japanese, shipbuilding and owning, which developed so rapidly, has suffered severely, notwithstanding the subsidies given by the Japanese Government. With regard to the trade in the Far Bast it is recorded that business is in the most deplorable 'condition, necessitating even Japanese tonnage to lay up. The low rate of five cents per picul accepted, Saigon to Hongkong, is proof of this. . Rates from West Coast America have been extremely low, produced by the large amount of tonnage sent out with coals for the American fleet. This caused a number of steamers to be seeking employment. many of which had to book to Justralia and accept very low rates for time charter—there- laundries are to be enforced in places already as low as a/- per ton daw, being accepted. The case oil trade from the United States to Australia, China, and Japan has employed a large amount of tonnage, but at low rates. Indian business, coasting and homeward. has been very poor throughout the year. At last year now coming to hand a vein of the same time the prospects are stated to be pessimism runs through most of them, and brightening and the reduced production of

HYR-LAWS FOR FLOOR SURVACES

The following minute by the Medical Cificer of Health inquiring whether the new bye-laws re-floor surfaces of bake-houses, dairies and licensed or only in the cases of applications for new licenses was laid on the table at the meeting of the Sanitary Board this afternoon; -I should be glad to know whether the new bys-laws re floor surfaces of bake-houses, dairies and laundries are to be enforced inplaces already licensed or only in the cases of applications for new licenses. Laundries already possessing licenses are nut re-licensed every year; it is therefore doubtful whether the bye-law can be enforced unless the floor of the laundry requires relaying or -making-good.-

Bake-houses and dairies are re-licensed every year, and so, I suppose, the renewal can be re fused unless the bye-law be complied with. fied that in some cases renewals have been granted, although the bye-law is not strictly complied with. Some bakeries are paved with Canton tiles. This has not been reported as defect when the tiled floor has been in good repair. Will the Board agree that in future no license shall be granted or renewal for bakehouses and dairjes unless the floor is strictly in accordance with the bye-laws and declare Canton tiles to be material not approved for the floor surface?

Mr. A. Shelton Hooper minuted :-- Enforce the bye-laws.

USE OF FERRETS AS DESTROYERS.

COMMUNICATION FROM CAPE TOWN, The following comprehensive paper covering considerable space relative to the use of ferrets as agents for destroying rats was received from the Medical Officer of Health for the Colony of Cape Town and laid on the table at the > Department of Public Health, 55, Parliament Street, Cape Town, fortnightly meeting of the Sanitary Board this

23rd December, 1908. Sir,-I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. S.B.C. 4916/A. o8 of the 17th pltime, in which you ask for informaation concerning the use of ferrels in Cape, Colony during epizootics of plague, amongst rodents, and in reply am pleased to be able to furnish you with the following particulars

Soon after plague first broke out in Capa Town in 1901, this Government imported 250 farrets from England; these ferrets were selected with the greatest care and were all supposed to have had and got over distemper. They proved absolutely u class,

The whole area was swarming with rodents. and the ramifications of the rat holes were extraordinary, and it was quite a common experience to put a ferret down a rat hole in one house and to have it appear in another some distance away. The ferreis frequently came across nests of young rats or the carcasses of rats dead from plague, and gorged themselves so that they were unable to get back through the hole, and while in this state. they were often lost or were set upon and killed

Apart from the above, however, the ferrets. themselves proved to be exceedingly susceptible to plague, and a very large percentage whole 250 had died, with the exception, I believe, of two, which were handed over to the Town Council.

In subsequent operations, we never used ferrets again, but I believe that elsawhere-notably in India-the Plague Officers. have had the same experience.

In dealing with the different outbreaks of plague which have from time to time occurred in this Colony, almost every possible method for exterminating rats has been tried, and a large number of experiments upon rats, living under natural conditions have been conducted by the Officers of the Department. The effect of carbon dioxide gas was tried without result; also the pouring of carbon bisulphide into rat Danyzs virus, and a bacteriologist was brought Before I sit down I will draw your attention out from England for the purpose, but no results were achieved worth anything. During -the-course-of-the-latter-experiments-we-had-a-. That this University will not be a rival or - number of rats isolated in a cellar and counted in any way antagonistic to Universities, or from day to day; these were fed with bread soaked in freshly prepared cultures, and al-It will work cordially in co-operation with them | though a few rodents at the first meal died, the greater number which survived appeared to flourish on the diet subtequently.

> We have also tried the much-advertised Ratin " this is uspless—in this climate, at any rate. Almost every variety of trap and polson invented has also been tried and given up. At the present time, when an outbreak of plague occurs, we depend to a very large extent on bird lime for catching rodents. I do not know whether your Department has ever given this a trial, but if not, the following notes regarding its use may be of in-

> The bird lime should be spread about a quarter of an inch thick on pieces of board, which should be placed on beams and in front rodents. It may also be used by baiting boards prepared in the same manner. Bird lime is also useful in the course of disinfecting operations in isolating stacks of infected goods. where isolating screens cannot be inserted; disinfected portions of a store, . The ordinary bird lime appears to be of yery little use, but the best Japanese bird lime gives excellent results, and in plague epidemics, this Government purchases very large quantities of it.

If there is any further information on the subject which you may require, I shall be pleas-A. JOHN GREGORY

HSU HSI-CHANG DENOUNCED. [By courtesy of the "Sheung Po."] Peking, 14th February.

A Censor has memorialized the Throne to the effect that Hsu Hsichang (who has been appointed substantive President of the Ministry of Posts and Communications) is not conversant with railway, shipping and postul affairs; he is therefore incompetent for the post. The memorial has been shelved:

The Prince Regent has instructed : Lei Tin-lam, Acting President of the Ministry of Posts and Communications, to effect reforms in the Ministry and to discharge supernumerary officials.

Lei was also enjoined not to fall into the errors of the former Pro sident, Chan Pik, who had been cashiered.-

Lei Tin-lam has taken up theduties of President of the Ministry of Posts and Communications. He the salaries of officials, including Leung Tse-yi's emoluments.

Tse has decided to resign.

Viceroy Chang of Canton proposes to take the latter official back into the service of his provincial. administration with a view to placing him in charge of railway affairs within the province.

Later.

Had Hei-chang has telegraphed to Grand Secretary Chang Chihtung strongly urging that he should not be appointed to the Presidency of the Ministry of Posts and Communications, since he is apprehensive lest, the post being an important one, he will invite jealousy (from time. among his brother officials).

Later.

Up to the present, already seventeen officials have resigned their offices from the Ministry of Posts and Communications.

REPAIRING A DAMAGED SHIP.

CLAIM FOR ALLEGED BREACH OF CONTRACT. Additional evidence was taken by Mr. Justice Gompertz in the Summary Jurisdiction Court, torday, in connection with the action brought. by the Yee Fat Company, of 62, Des Coux Road West who sued a contractor named Keang Fat, I, Reclamation Street, Yau-ma-ti, to jecover the sum of $382, being for goods removed by the defendant and alleged to have been wrongfully detained, and for damages.

In this matter it was stated that the plaintiffs as owners of the steamer Acolus entered loto contract with the defendant in respect of certain wood work for the vessel. At the time the agreement was signed the Acolus was lying off Tai-kok-tsui. On the day defendant started the work there was a strong wind blowing and the ship had a considerable list. The defendant confessed that he could not work under such conditions and told plaintiffs that he would remove all the ship's wood-work and take it ashore, where the work would be done. The wood-work was removed plaintiffs advanced defendant the sum of $150; but the work.was never completed, and desendant still held the wood he removed from the ship. At this morning's hearing Mr. P. W

Goldring (of Messre, Goldring, Barlow, and Morrell) for the plaintiffs, called Mr. J. Douglas, marine surveyor, who observed that when he examined the vessel hardly any work had been done-not ten per cent. even. The work shown in the specification was carpen'ers' work. When he visited the vessel her hold was full of water. In order to proceed with the work deck beams would have to be removed, which would take about a week. But her after hold could not have been pumped out owing to the number of holes in the bottom of the ship. Using reasonable expedition the defendants, in witness's opinion, had only done a week's work. Subject to the deck beams and the ship's bottom being repaired the carpentering work would have been completed in about six weeks.

The Court (to Mr. Goldring)-You are suing for the return of this wood?-Yes, my Lord; and in the alternative damages:

(To Mr. Thomson) - You have no counterhas begun by reducing considerably | claim?-No, my Lord. What we say is that we have a lien on the wood. If they pay us for the work we have done they can have the

(To the witness) - Everything on board was, very old?-Yes. How long was she on the rocks?-About

By Mr. Goldring-Witness saw the specification attached to the contract. It was possible for the defendant to have had the work done on shore and fitted the ship in six weeks. Witness thought $200 was too much to pay for the work he had inspected, and what little he saw was merely patch-work.

Cross-examined by Mr. O. D. Thomson-When he said that $200 was too much he meant the work done and did not include the stripping of the ship. It would cost $5,000 to complete the work. The ship even up to now is not ready for work to begin. . .

Mr. Thomson submitted that before the plaintiffs cancelled the contract they should have given the defendant a chance to finish the work. There was no stipulated time stated in the contract for the defendant to complete the work, but he was to do it in a "reasonable"

Two more witnesses were called, and judgment-was entered for the plaintiffs for $150. and costs.

Duty on Sugar.

JAPANESE CUSTOMS DUTY TO BE INCREASED TO 50 PER CENT.

HEAVY DECREASE IN JAPANESE EXPORT

Tokyo, 28th January. The Committee on the Bill relating to the reimbursement of Customs duty on sugar resumed its sitting to-day at II a.m. ... The proceedings were opened by the reply of Mr. Sakurai, Director of the Revenue Bureau, to the question put the previous day in regard to the quantity of sugar on which the excise was imposed in Formess, and the amount of excise thereon during the period from April to November last year. Mr. Sakurai gave the following figures :--

QUANTITY. AMOUNT OF EXCISE. First quality 70,000,000 Second quality ... 30,000,000 175 000 Third quality 35,000,000 3,077,000 Fourth quality ... 38,000,000 " 3,800,000 Mr. Nakagawa Toranosuke, for Tokushima prefecture, said that the authorities appeared to be protecting the Formosan sugar industry by imposing excise at a lower rate on sugar produced in the colony, and asked whether such was the case. ' A Government delegate on the Bill had said, continued Mr. Nakagawa, that-be repealed in July torr, and that the import duty would be raised to 50 per cent. If this were done, there would be no necessity in reimbursing the duty on imported crude sugar, as Japanese and foreign sugar would be placed on an equal footing; but what would be done when sugar-redning mills were started in Formosa and competition ensued between the mills in Japan Proper and those in Formosa?

Mr. Sakurai, Director of the Revenue Bureau, stated that no discrimination whatever was made in favour of Formosan sugar in the imposition of excise. The Government policy in dealing with the sugar industry was éncourage the production of crude sugar in Formosa, the Luchus, and Oshima, and to supply raw material to the sugarrefining mills in Japan Proper. It was doubtful whether the sugar industry in Japan (including Formosa) would develop by 1911 to such an extent as to be capable of supplying all the wants of the augar-refining mills in Japan; which consumed 500,000,000 kin of crude sugar. In 1911 the existing foreign Treaties were to be of to per cent, would be replaced by 50 per cent. according to the Statutory Import Tariff, and the rate of 85.7 sen per too kin now imposed on imported reflued sugar would be increased to V3.50.

Mr. Nishimura Shintaro, a Progressist, for Hyogo prefecture, wanted to know the amount 2,062 24 of excise imposed on sugar shipped from Formosa to Japan Proper, and said it was an open 350 00 secret that third quality produced in Formosa 128.64 was treated as second or first quality in the matter of excise.

Mr. Hasama, a Secretary in the Formosan Government, rose to answer Mr. Nishimura. He said that the Formosan Government hoped to produce in Formosa all the sugar required in Japan, and were working hard to develop the cultivation of the case and to improve the quality of sugar, as well as the fertiliser used in its cultivation. In Java about 160,000 kin of sagar-cane was produced on one cho of land. while in Formess at one time the yield was not more than 45,000 kin. As the result of the improvement made in the method of cultivation the output had now increased to between 65,000 and 75,000 kin, and it was expected to be increased to 120,000 kin. There were many sugar mills in Formosa, but with the exception of the Formosa and Ensuiko charges, less working expenses-112,346.32 | Sugar Mills, all the rest were quite new, having began the operation of machinery only this year. The sugar industry in "Formosa was only now beginning to grow. This evasion of tax must be strictly suppressed, but leniency > should be shown in imposing the excise. The Government delegate was proceeding to say more when Mr. Nishimura interrupted and said the answer should be brief and to the point. Mr. Nishimura pointed out that the value of refined sugar exported in 1906 was Y84,000,000, which declined to Y24,000,000 in the following year, and asked what was the reason of the decrease? Mr. Sakurai, Director of the Revenue Bureau, replied that the export of sugar to China in 1906 amountd to 70,000,000 kin and in 1907 to 14,000,000 kin. The decrease was chiefly due to the depression of trade between the two countries and the financial situation." Mr. Nishimura said that the Government policy in encouraging the business in the colons was destined to suin the industry in the home land, and asked whether the Government did not think it an inconsistent policy.

Mr. Sakurai Director of the Revenue Bureau replied that there was no inconsistency. The evasion of tax must be strictly suppressed, but leniency should be shown in imposing the

OFIUM SMUGGLING:

CHANDU IN A JUNK.

It will be remembered that on the 1st instant Sergeant Mussel and a party of revenue officers boarded a Chinese junk which was within the harbour limits near the Raffles Reclamation, and, after a thorough investigation, seized three tins of chandu. One of the tins, says the Singapore Free Press of 5th inst., was found concealed in one of the folds of the sail, and the rest in the aft and fore holds. The chandu weighed thirty four tabils and the raw opium fifty tabils. It was found that the value of the products amounted to $177. A. Hylam named Sim Chin Geok was prosecuted on Wednesday before Mr, de Mello, fourth magistrate, as being the master of the junk which had been used for smuggling chandu. A question was raised and the defendant was found not to be the master, or the taikong, but the chinchew. The charge against him was dismissed.

Yesterday morning before the same magistrate a similar charge was brought against the taikong named Bok Chow Joon. The defendant admitted being the talkong of the junk and knowing that the chaudu was discovered on the vessel. It was brought from Hainam for the consumption of the crew." The vessel left there on Dec. 9th and arrived here on the 14th of last month. Continuing he said he was not present when the search was made. The accused was convicted and fined $40, and the opium is to be confiscated to the Farm, Mr. G. S. Carver appeared on behalf of the Opium Farmer and Mr. Upcott defended.

A NUMBER of beggars who were found asking for alms, in the streets yesterday were "soped in" by the police. This morning, they were ordered to pay a fine of a dollar each, and as they could not comply with the order they were. lodged to geol for a couple of deve.
